Moon Gazer Discusses Meaning of Rings

RING AROUND THE MOON: Have a letter from a moon gazer relating to the recent discussion about the rings around the moon. Writes Mr. M. G.: "Your recent mention of the rings around the moon brings up an old discussion about the meaning of those rings. Old timers always connected the rings with a warning of a weather change, and there may be some scientific truth in the matter.

"Since it is a fact that atmospheric conditions determine the approaching weather, and the rings around the moon give a picture of atmospheric conditions, then there you are.

"The rings are caused by the same scientific phenomena that make a rainbow when the sun is shining. Mist, certain clouds or dust cause a refraction in light rays from the sun or the moon, breaking up the rays into the color spectrum, whereby various colors are visible.

"At night, all the colors are not visible, as in a rainbow, but a definite circle of light is visible. The size of the ring is determined by the height (from the earth) of the clouds or mist.

"Old timers used to say there would be a change in weather, usually to unfavorable weather within 48 hours after the ring appeared around the moon. Some others used to count the number of stars within the circle, and say there would be rain within that number of days.

Now, we have had our lesson in moonology, let's say something nice about a nice fellow—

BILL LYONS OF SIU. Bill directs the Information Service at Southern Illinois University. He and his staff write information about the school for newspapers, radio-TV and other means of communication.

His material is well written, often illustrated with photos, and helps all of us increase our appreciation for southern Illinois' own college and the wonderful work being done by President Morris and his co-workers not only for the students attending, but for the area in general.

Bill also writes a news letter for private consumption of southern Illinois editors, relaying news of the newspaper craft in general, clippings from various newspapers and homely comment to the 101 members of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association.

Bill's mimeographed Christmas greeting to editors and news broadcasters of the area is not a literary gem, but we think it worth passing on. He says:

"Although 1954 seems to be just well under way, here comes 1955, pushing and crowding. Hardly seems decent.

"What there was of '54 was good from our point of view because you helped make it that way. We are grateful that throughout the year you considered Southern stories newsworthy; but more than that is the fact that in so many ways you were just plain friendly. Whenever you find friendliness, you find the spirit of Christmas, whether the month be June or December." Pretty good thought, eh?

Gov. Stratton to Dedicate New Mitchellville-Dixon Springs Road

Will Speak at Two Ceremonies On Saturday

Governor William G. Stratton will dedicate a newly-completed 23-mile-long state highway in Pope and Saline counties Saturday afternoon, Dec. 18.

The chief executive will be the principal speaker at two ribbon-cutting ceremonies at the termini of the new route.

The project, completed at a cost of approximately $4,500,000, extends from a junction with Illinois Route 34 at Mitchellville eight miles south of Harrisburg.

Open to Public

The opening program will be held at 1:30 p. m. at the Dixon Springs end of the new highway. At its conclusion, a motorcade will proceed to Mitchellville, where another ribbon-cutting ceremony is scheduled. The governor will be accompanied by Edwin A. Rosenstone, director of Public Works and Buildings.

Both programs are open to the public. Special guests will include state elective officers, officials of the two counties and cities along the route, representatives of various civic organizations, newspaper publishers, legislators from the 51st district, representatives of the federal bureau of public roads and the contracting firm which built the road.

Governor Stratton will be introduced at the Dixon Springs ceremony by Senator Arthur Van Hoeser and at the Mitchellville dedication by Senator Glen O. Jones. Brief addresses also will be made by Representatives Gordon Kerr, W. O. Verhines and Paul Powell.

Modern Highway

The 22-foot wide concrete pavement was built during the current construction season by S. J. Groves and Sons Co., of Springfield, under a $2,879,178 contract awarded last April. Previously, the grading, bridge and grade separation structures had been completed at a cost of $1,582,000. The pavement is nine inches thick throughout.

The new project provides motorists a completely modern highway from Mitchellville to Dixon Springs, also available for south-bound traffic coming through Harrisburg en route to Kentucky. It will mean a substantial cut in time and travel distance.

Director Rosenstone announced that one of the most extensive planting programs to combat erosion undertaken in recent years is being applied along the new route, particularly through the rocky cuts. Special treatment involving several varieties of ground cover is being used, he said.

Annual Vesper Service Sunday At Junior High

The annual Vesper service will be given to the public by the students of the Junior high school on Sunday, Dec. 19, from 4 to 5 p. m. For many years this has been Junior high's gift to the community during the holiday season.

Chosen for this year's service is "Amahl and the Night Visitors," a beautiful Christmas story—tender, warm and humorous, composed by Gian-Carlo Menotti. It tells of a crippled shepherd boy who entertained the Wise Men on their way to Bethlehem, of the simple gift he gave them for the Christ Child and of the miraculous gift he received in return.

Life Prisoner Wins Second State Parole

SPRINGFIELD (CP)—A 60-year-old prisoner sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in 1915 has won his second chance for freedom.

Thomas Clapp, who pleaded guilty to the murder of two elderly brothers near Tamm, was included Wednesday in a list of 103 prisoners in state penitentiaries eligible for freedom.

The parole list was announced by the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board on the basis of hearings held in December.

Clapp won his first parole in 1940, but stumbled into trouble in Missouri. He was convicted of robbery and sentenced to 10 years in the Missouri State Penitentiary.

He was named a parole violator in Illinois and sent back to the Menard division of the Illinois State Penitentiary after he was released in Missouri in 1949.

Clapp served almost 32 years of the life sentence, in addition to the Missouri imprisonment.

He was 21 when he was convicted of murder in the deaths of Edward and Dave Brown in Alexander County. He and an accomplice allegedly rode horseback to the Brown residence, produced a gun, and demanded money.

The Browns, according to Parole Board records, resisted. Both were killed. A pocketbook was taken from the house.

Clapp admitted shooting the two men in the robbery attempt.

UMW Asks $18.75 Minimum Mine Pay on Gov't Coal

WASHINGTON (CP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is expected to start proceedings immediately on a request to establish the basic soft coal union wage of $18.75 a day as a federal minimum wage in coal mines serving the government, it was learned today.

The request was made by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chief; George Love, president of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., largest commercial coal producer in the country; and A. R. Mathews, president of the Pocahontas Coal Co., largest of the Southern coal producers.

Informants said the request was designed to halt a trend among smaller coal producers to go non-union and cut wages to get government contracts.

The UMW has criticized soft coal buying practices of government agencies, particularly the Tennessee Valley Authority, contending they undermine the coal industry wage structure through purchasing from non-union mines.

The TVA, UMW spokesmen said, has justified its purchases from non-union mines on the basis that they offer the lowest bids under the system of competitive bidding.

The UMW for some time has been considering asking for a federal minimum wage under the Walsh-Healey Act which applies to firms having government contracts of $10,000 or more.

Indications are that Lewis waited until he could get some leading industry representatives to go along with him on the requests.

2,800,000 in Service Seen By Mid-1957

Threat of Global War Diminished; Economy Needed

WASHINGTON (CP)—Defense Department source said today the administration is reviving its once-scraped plan to cut military manpower to about 2,800,000 by mid-1957.

Such a drastic slash would be in line with the administration's position that the threat of global atomic war has diminished, permitting a smaller military force for the long pull of the cold war.

Also in the background are the facts that the administration is faced with a three-billion-dollar budget deficit in the coming fiscal year and the military represents one of the biggest areas for economizing.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson gave the tipoff that the administration had turned once again to plans for cutting military manpower strength when he said Wednesday night that the active forces would be reduced to "something less" than the 3,047,000-man figure to be reached by next June 30.

The 3,047,000-man figure previously had been set as the leveling off point after a battle by the services against a long-range plan to cut military strength to 2,815,000 by mid-1957.

The decision to revive the old 2,815,000-man objective was reached only in recent days. It was reached at a time when defense officials were completing a military budget for the coming fiscal year on the assumption that manpower strength would be continued at the 3,047,000 level.

The reductions presumably would be spread out, with about 100,000 men cut from the standing forces in the coming fiscal year and another 100,000 in the following fiscal year.

This reduction would be apart from any cut that might result if Congress adopts the President's proposed new plan for greatly enlarging military reserve forces.

Assistant Defense Secretary Carter L. Burgess emphasized, however, that adoption of the broadened reserve program "will not give us a chance to do a lot of immediate cutting" in active military strength.

Michigan State Instructor Resigns, Daughter Denies End of World Teaching

EAST LANSING, Mich. (CP)—The daughter of a physician who resigned from the staff of the Michigan State College Hospital today denied that her father was selling his possessions to be ready for the "end of the world."

However, she conceded the doctor had told MSC students at meetings that there would be "some surface changes on earth Dec. 21 such as earthquakes."

Charles Laughead said her father, Dr. Charles A. Laughead, was a "student of ancient mysticism but doesn't believe the world will end next Tuesday."

"Certainly he goes beyond orthodoxy in his religious beliefs, but has never made such predictions," she said.

The end of the world theory popped up Wednesday when the State Board of Agriculture, governing body at Michigan State, accepted Laughead's resignation by mutual "agreement."

Dr. John A. Hannah, college president, said a delegation of students told him they were "disturbed" about what Laughead was saying. According to the students, the doctor had been holding meetings and teaching the beliefs of some peculiar religious sects, Hannah said.

He said he understood the sect believes the world will end Dec. 21 and flying saucers from Mars will rescue some of the survivors.

"We understand Dr. Laughead is disposing of his possessions and is getting ready to move to a spot to await the rescue," Hannah said.

The official said he understood from conversation with Laughead that members of the sect were going to wait on "mountain tops" at various locations to be rescued by crewmen of the flying saucers.

Laughead, 44, is the father of three children. He has been at MSC since 1948. He served as a medical missionary from 1935-40 for the United Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Egypt and served at the Student Health Center at the University of Iowa from 1940-45.

Miss Laughead said her father was in Chicago "at present." She said she believed he was looking for another job.

No Accidents in City, Only One Injury in County

No deaths and but one injury occurred in Saline county yesterday—Safe Driving Day—according to a survey made this morning.

Sheriff William T. Barrett said his office received no reports of accidents and Chief of Police Loren Travelstead of Harrisburg said there were no crashes reported to his department.

Collisions, if any, were apparently minor and not reported.

Injured was Mrs. Lessie Hodge of Carrier Mills. She was hurt in a two-car collision in Carrier Mills yesterday morning. Details of this crash were reported yesterday.

Two Rolling Earthquakes in Western States

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Two rolling earthquakes shook California, Nevada and Utah early today, rousing thousands of persons from their sleep and causing minor damage.

Police and sheriff's offices reported the damage was limited for the most part to a few toppled chimneys, ceiling cracks and dishes tossed to the floor. The quakes touched off burglar alarms in one city.

The tremors apparently were strongest in Fallon, Nev., the scene of two severe quakes last summer. Sheriff's deputies waited until daybreak to determine whether the area's extensive irrigation systems were damaged.

The first shock was felt at 3:09 a. m. and the second about four minutes later. Both the quakes were long and rolling. Had they been sharp jolts, they could have caused widespread major damage.

In Lovelock, Nev., electric power was cut off to one section, but other damage was reported there.

Sheriff George Wilkins of Fallon said the tremors were "about as strong" as those of last summer. He said the fact that they were rolling spared the town the damage it suffered in the previous tremors.

The quakes were felt in San Francisco, the California Valley towns of Sacramento, Stockton, Modesto, Visalia, Fresno and Bakersfield, in Los Angeles, in Nevada and as far east as Salt Lake City.

Rites Saturday for Miss Ludine Miller

Funeral services for Miss Ludine Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller of the Dykersburg community, who died yesterday morning in the Lightner hospital, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at Indian Camp church.

Rev. Arthur Travelstead, assisted by Rev. Eugene Allen, will officiate, and burial will be in the church cemetery.

She is survived by her parents and two sisters, Miss Helen Miller at home and Miss Wandametta Miller of Marion.

Pallbearers will be Jimmy Killman, Rayborn Killman, Ralph Beasley, Paul Sturm, Troy Nolen and Frank Turner.

The body lies in state at the Miller funeral home.

In 24-Hour Auto Accidents 49 Lives Lost

10 to 15 Per Cent Savings in Lives Reported for Day

By United Press

Safety officials today said that S-D Day was a success even though 49 lives were lost in traffic accidents in the 24 hours ending at midnight this morning.

In addition to the 49 persons killed, 1,023 persons suffered injuries in the 3,483 accidents reported during the day. President Eisenhower had hoped would pass without a single death, injury or accident in traffic.

Those figures compared with 60 killed and 1,807 injured on a comparable traffic day a year ago today. A special United Press "test" tabulation last Wednesday showed 67 persons killed and an estimated 2,144 injured.

Rear Adm. H. B. Miller, director of the President's action committee for traffic safety, said "S-D Day did precisely what it was intended to do."

Projecting the reduction in deaths and injuries on S-D Day for the entire year, he said, showed that 6,000 persons killed in traffic during 1954 would still be alive if motorists and pedestrians had used the same caution they did Wednesday.

Saved 10-15 Per Cent

The savings in lives Wednesday was estimated at 10 to 15 per cent. Indiana had the worst record for the day with five dead. New Mexico was next with four in a single accident.

Counting three deaths each were California, Florida, Illinois, Mississippi, Pennsylvania and Texas. Two each were reported by Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Virginia and Washington. States reporting one death each were Georgia, Iowa, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Vermont and Wisconsin.

"S-D Day did precisely what it was intended to do," Miller said. "It focused nationwide attention on the need for safer driving. And it proved that with just a little more care and effort, the traffic toll can be cut substantially."

Benefits Will Continue

"The benefits of S-D Day did not end at midnight. We are sure they will be felt in terms of lives saved, safety and greater freedom from tragedy in the months to come."

"Let's make every day a safe driving day!"

There were no fatalities in 24 states and spotless records of no deaths and no injuries were posted in Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Colorado.

S-D Day was a flop in the nation's biggest city, New York, where the accident rate soared to three times more than that of a year ago. In Chicago, however, the accident rate was cut to a fourth of normal.

Wanted Perfect Record

President Eisenhower, in proclaiming S-D Day, had pleaded for a perfect day of no deaths, injuries, or even accidents on the highways.

Safety experts doubted if this was possible. Their fears were confirmed when, only 23 minutes after the beginning of S-D Day, Adelbert Jacobs Jr., 37, Waterford, Wis., was killed when his car went off the highway near Milwaukee.

At Hobart, Ind., 150 school children had no teachers. The five teachers had been injured when their car skidded on an icy bridge as they drove to the school.

Small Business Institute at SIU
To Train Students for Own Business

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Organization of a small business institute is underway at Southern Illinois university under the direction of R. Ralph Bedwell, former manager of the education department of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

The institute was established to stimulate training of students interested in going into business for themselves in southern Illinois, to provide technical advice on small business operations; and to establish effective contacts between the businessman and the professional staff of SIU.

Bedwell, a former assistant dean of commerce at DePaul university, Chicago, spent three years with the State Chamber of Commerce working with Illinois businessmen to promote small educational programs in schools.

Bedwell said three committees will be made part of the organizational setup of the new SIU agency:

1. The council of small business will be composed of representatives of business, industry, banking, labor, law, agriculture and education who will cooperate with regional and community groups in aiding development and financing of small business operations.

2. A technical advisory committee of area specialists whose services might be sought to advise businessmen in such fields as production, sales and advertising, tax structures, and personnel. Members of the committee would serve as adjunct professors or research associates of the university without pay.

3. An informal faculty committee will be expected to contribute to the instructional, research or educational service programs of the institute.

The institute plans to give students working toward careers in business and industry internships in area firms as part of their schooling. The council will seek loans and scholarships for deserving students.

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON says: Ike will seize Red China ships if UN fails to obtain Airmen's Release; CIA Asked to Locate Missing Servicemen; Knowland's Resentment Against Nixon Caused Break With Administration.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has made one important concession to military advisers who have been pushing him to take strong steps in China. These military men are chiefly Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. James Van Fleet, the Korea commander whose letter on troop-training contributed to Ike's election.

What the President has agreed to is the use of the U. S. Navy to seize Red Chinese merchant vessels if the United Nations fails in its attempt to free the 11 American airmen and two American civilians.

Eisenhower's concession on this point came only after a long series of debates inside the National Security Council and the White House. During most of these debates the President leaned over backward against his military advisers.

The man who chiefly backed him up was General Matt Ridgway, Army chief of staff, who has so emphatically disagreed with Eisenhower on reducing the strength of the armed forces that he will probably be retired on his birthday in March. But, on the question of getting bogged down in a possible war in China, the two spoke the same language.

Admiral Radford, however, is one of the most charming and persuasive military men in the Pentagon. Very much in the doghouse with the Truman administration because of his open battle against the Air Force, Radford sweet-talked himself into Ike's good graces during one short hour when Ike's plane refueled at two Jima Korea.

Ike then took Radford on the rest of the trip and he's been with him ever since.

EASY TO SEIZE REDS
Radford, there, was able to talk Eisenhower into a promise that the U. S. Navy would be used to seize Communist China shipping—if the U. N. negotiations break down. He did this in part by showing how easy it has been for Chiang Kai-Shek's navy, reinforced by U. S. observation planes and using former U. S. warships, to capture Red Chinese shipping in the Formosa Straits.

Red shipping has to pass through the relatively narrow waters between the Chinese mainland and Chiang's Formosa, where it is easy for Chiang to lay in wait and pick off ships almost at will.

Thus, without a blockade, Red China would not be able to communicate between the vitally important seaports of the south and those of the north, about the same thing as cutting New York-Philadelphia, Boston off from Baltimore-Norfolk-Miami-New Orleans.

Note — Ike was of the opinion that the U. N. mission would succeed and that a showdown with the Red China navy would not be necessary.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
The State Department has drawn up a secret list of 526 missing Americans—472 servicemen, 54 civilians—who have disappeared behind the bamboo curtain. The State Department is morally certain many are alive in Communist prisons, has asked Central Intelligence to locate them. If our agents in China can find proof these men are alive, Uncle Sam will make a vigorous protest in the United Nations, then follow up with military pressure if necessary.

The French are missing 20,000 troops that the Reds were supposed to repatriate under the armistice agreement in Indo-China. The recent East German elections revealed that the number of voters has dropped by 238,181 in the last four years. Most are refugees who fled to the west. The administration is quietly trying to arrange for Chief Justice Earl Warren to address a joint session of Congress. The federal courts are in such urgent need of increased appropriations that a personal appeal from the chief justice is considered necessary to dramatize the need.

For example, the chief justice—second most important official in the land—doesn't even have a limousine. He must either rent on or hail a cab to attend formal functions. Yet minor assistant secretaries, attending the same functions, drive up in official government limousines.

Ike and Mamie have four plush presidential limousines between them, and another three for hauling important visitors—a total of seven. Maybe they could loan one to the chief justice.

MR. NIX VS. MR. NO
The inside story hasn't been told, but Bill Knowland's break with the administration isn't a personal split with President Eisenhower. It's resentment against Vice President Nixon.

Those who know Knowland know he's so bitter against his fellow Californian that he will automatically oppose anything Nixon favors. Since the vice president is the "voice of Ike" in Capitol Hill, this has the psychological effect of putting Knowland at odds with the administration on almost every issue.

Also at the back of Knowland's mind, his friends say, is an ambition to succeed the late Sen. Robert Taft as spokesman for the GOP conservative wing. If Ike declines to run again, Knowland is convinced the Republican party will give its next presidential nomination to the most promising conservative candidate. This explains why Knowland declined comment recently as to whether Ike should be drafted.

Or, if Ike does try for a second term, he may be forced to choose a conservative running mate for the sake of party harmony. In either case, Knowland would like to be the most available choice.

Vice President Nixon, as the tail to the Eisenhower kite, is obliged to go in the same direction as the President. Nixon does his best to determine the direction and guide the President. Frequently he has it was he who for months laid down the appease-Joe policy. But, once the policy is laid down, Nixon faithfully follows the Eisenhower line. And once the White House lined up positively against McCarthy, no one worked harder behind the scenes against McCarthy than Nixon.

Knowland's friends swear this is the main reason the big, obstinate majority leader voted for McCarthy. It was Nixon, for example, who appointed the Senate committee, including it Senate chairman, Utah Sen. Arthur Watkins. Afterward, it was Nixon who persuaded Ike to congratulate Watkins.

This public endorsement of Watkins, plus Ike's press-conference remarks opposing Knowland's views on China, was interpreted by Knowland as a double-barreled public rebuke, engineered by Nixon.

Knowland has always resented the fact that Ike's chief liaison with the Senate has been through Nixon, rather than him. In the past the vice president has been more of a figurehead, with the Senate majority leader the chief contact with the White House.

The way feelings are running, it may not be long before Knowland and Nixon are openly calling each other names.

Defense Attorney Closes Plea in Sheppard Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's defense closed out its case today by telling his wife-murder jury that in the season of Christmas the defendant would say to them "I trust in God and Marilyn is at my side."

William J. Corrigan, the white-haired chief defense attorney, told the jury of seven men and five women that in bringing in a verdict of innocent they would "tell the people of this community—aye, the people of this nation and the world—that in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, the Constitution still lives."

Corrigan, in an eloquent summation, told the jury that Dr. Sheppard had been railroaded into arrest by "conclusion-jumping" police and pressured to trial by hysteria in the community worked up by newspapers and broadcasters.

The jury Friday will begin deliberating a verdict that can free the 30-year-old osteopathic surgeon, or send him to the electric chair.

Remember One Thing

Dr. Sheppard is accused of bludgeoning his wife, Marilyn, 31, to death in the pre-dawn hours of last July 4 after quarreling with her about his affairs with other women.

Corrigan told the jury that if they forgot everything else in their jury room, he wanted them to remember one thing, the testimony of Mrs. Eileen Hulse, an X-ray technician who said she heard Dr. Sheppard "speaking to the room" in which she was alone with him shortly after the murder.

Corrigan said she had heard Dr. Sam saying "out of his subconscious mind" what had taken place on the murder morning. Mrs. Hulse said she heard Dr. Sam moaning: "I heard Marilyn scream and I tried to get to her... oh God, I heard her scream and I tried to get to her but I couldn't."

Corrigan told the jury that Dr. Sam "had strayed from the path of rectitude," in his affair with Susan Hayes.

Asks for Acquittal

But he asked the jury: "Is sex the only thing in the love of a man and a woman—is that the only thing that holds me and my wife together—so I can go to bed with her?"

Corrigan asked the jury to bring in an acquittal, "not for Sam Sheppard alone but to preserve for your children and other people's children the rights that have been dearly bought and dearly paid for."

Report Cardinal Mindzenty is Freed by Hungary

VIENNA (AP)—Josef Cardinal Mindzenty, 62-year-old symbol of church martyrdom behind the Iron Curtain, was reported "reliably" today to have been freed from his life sentence in a Hungarian prison.

The Austrian Catholic News Service circulated a report that "in usually reliable circles at the Hungarian capital Budapest it was reported yesterday that Josef Cardinal Mindzenty, imprisoned since 1949, was released from prison a week ago."

The report could not be confirmed in other quarters and the United Press Correspondent in Budapest reported by telephone that "the information does not appear to be true."

However, the report raised hopes in Catholic and refugee circles that if not true now, it would be soon.

Russia Threatens
To Break Friendship
Treaty with France

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government threatened today to abrogate its 1944 friendship treaty with France if France ratifies the London-Paris agreements for rearming West Germany.

The threat was made in a note handed by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to French Ambassador Louis Joxe at the Foreign Ministry.

The note contained a lengthy reiteration of Soviet opposition to the Paris agreements and the rearmament of West Germany. It described German rearmament as directed against the Soviet Union and "other peace loving nations" of Europe.

Carrier Mills Vote
Favors Establishing Sanitary District

Carrier Mills voters went to the polls Tuesday and voted in favor of establishing a sanitary district, with the present boundaries of the village of Carrier Mills to be the boundaries of the district.

The vote for the proposition to establish the district was 265 and 235 voted against.

A total of 506 votes were cast, with six of the ballots spoiled.

Members of the village board will now recommend the names of three persons to County Judge Trafton Dennis to be trustees of the district.

The trustees may recommend a sewerage system for the sanitary district, which will be put to a vote if recommended.

Irish, Oklahoma A&M Lose to Purdue, Wyoming; Illinois Beats Miami, 97-72

By United Press
Ten of the nation's highest ranked basketball teams went to the court wars Wednesday night and two of them came home today wounded—Notre Dame and Oklahoma A and M.

While the other eight "big name" squads, led by NCAA champion LaSalle, were scoring important victories, Notre Dame took a stunning 78-58 thrashing from Purdue for its second loss of the season and Wyoming handed the Oklahoma Aggies their third beating, 50-43.

Purdue led by only 30-26 at half-time but then poured it on in the second half as Joe Sexton set the pace with set shots. Sexton led all scorers with 25 points. Jack Stephens, the Irish All-American candidate, was held to 12.

Purdue thus snapped a string of eight straight losses to the Irish and Wyoming ended a string of six straight defeats by the Aggies. Edge on Ball Control.

Wyoming outplayed the Aggies at their own ball-control game and took a 29-18 halftime lead. The Aggies rallied in the second half but the Cowboys held them off with a strong defense. Bill Lange led Wyoming actually won the game on the free throw line, making up for a 16-14 deficit in baskets with 22 free throws to the Aggies' 11.

All-America Tom Gola racked up 35 points in leading LaSalle.

Stenographer Named Harness Horse of Year

COLUMBUS, O. (U.P.)—Stenographer, a three-year-old trotting filly which won 23 of her 32 starts to collect $65,137.39 this year, was acclaimed today as the Harness Horse of the Year.

The U. S. Trotting Association said a panel of 97 turf writers gave Stenographer 464 votes to edge two-year-old trotter Scott Frost by 41 votes.

Stenographer is owned by Max Hempt of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Scott Frost is owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif.

ranked the nation's No. 1 team by the United Press Board of Coaches to a 76-60 victory over Lafayette. Lafayette surprised by holding the champs to a 39-36 halftime lead but then LaSalle romped home.

Illinois, ranked third nationally, took a 97-72 decision over Miami (O.), as soph George Bonsalle paced the assault with 24 points.

N. C. State Has Easy One
North Carolina State, ranked No. 4 nationally, cruised to its seventh win, 91-62, over South Carolina. The Wolfpack raced to an 11-0 lead and then breezed as all hands had a share in the scoring.

Among the other high-ranked teams: Duquesne (No. 7) walloped College of Pacific, 74-52; Missouri (No. 9) trounced Arkansas, 77-58; as Bob Reiter scored 25 points; Dayton (No. 12) was forced into overtime to down dangerous Louisville, 71-67; Holy Cross (No. 16) crushed St. Anselm's, 96-58; and St. Louis (No. 17) downed Mississippi, 82-68.

In other games: Marquette upset Michigan, 83-78; as Jerry Hopfester scored 21; Jesse Arnette, the star football end, scored 33 points to lead Penn State to a new school scoring record in a 110-75 victory over Colgate; Massachusetts crushed Boston U., 104-80; Rhode Island edged Brown, 51-48; Columbia ripped Yale, 72-50; Manhattan beat Wagner, 68-58; Seton Hall trounced Scranton, 72-55; St. Joseph's (Pa.) beat Penn Military, 92-47; and Regis defeated Creighton, 92-84.

Olson Wins 11th Round TKO Over Langlois

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—Carl (Bob) Olson, king of the middleweights, can look for new worlds to conquer today.

He finished off the last of the top foreign contenders Wednesday with an 11th round technical knockout over the unhappy Frenchman, Pierre Langlois.

He already has defeated the top British contender, Randy Turpin, and the leading Cuban threat in Kid Gavilan.

His next foe, if everything goes well, probably will be an American—Joey Giardello.

In any event, the Hawaiian-born battler still is ready for all comers.

He was able to take home a check for well over $50,000 today for his fight with Langlois. The promoters had anticipated a crowd of only about 11,000 and a $100,000 gate.

But a last minute rush at the gate sold out the huge Cow Palace and 16,543 came through the turnstiles and the gross gate was $107,660. Net gate, after taxes, was announced at $83,369.

Claim Doctor Won Fight
The Langlois camp claimed after the battle that the doctor had lost the fight to Dr. Robert Laddon, state Athletic Commission doctor, who stopped the bloody brawl with Langlois bleeding heavily from his mouth, his nose and his eye. It was a cut eye that halted proceedings.

"We lost the fight to the doctor," claimed George Kanter, American representative of the Frenchman. "When he went to look at that eye cut, he pulled it wider apart."

Dr. Laddon claimed this charge was nonsense. "Langlois could have suffered severe, permanent impairment to his eyesight if the bout had continued," he said.

Actually Pierre put up a fine battle—but he just wasn't in Olson's class. The officials were nearly unanimous in this. Two of them gave only one round each to the French challenger; the other gave none.

On the point basis used in California Referee Ray Flores and Judge Jack Downey each had it 59½-50½, while Judge Vern Bybee had it 59-51 for the champion. United Press gave a little more of a break to the challenger, with the count 57½-52½ for Olson.

Bruising Contest
It was a bruising contest all the way, and although the fans knew that Olson was winning easily, they booed lustily when the doctor ordered the bout stopped.

There were no knockdowns, but in the third round and again in the eighth, Olson battered Langlois around the ring. The challenger went into a shell and when it appeared he must fall to the mat from the battering, he gamely came back and resumed punching. For that, he got a tremendous hand when he left the ring.

Season tickets for reserved chairs are $3 and for a single session are 85 cents.

By ED KIRKPATRICK

With the announcement of district, regional and sectional sites last week, hardwood fans throughout the area have been trying to piece together who will play where and when—but mostly just where! School officials at Galatia, Shawneetown and Ridgway have received word that their schools will participate in regional action this year. This is unusual in the case of Shawneetown and Ridgway although Galatia has been assigned direct to regional play in recent years. Last year, however, Galatia drew a berth in the Ridgway district.

To complicate matters, no district site is very close to southeastern Illinois schools. Crossville is a district center, and its winner will go to the Norris City regional. Just who else will wind up at this regional is hard to determine. It may be the four Saline county schools and the two Gallatin county school of Ridgway and Shawneetown. These six, along with Crossville district winner and host Norris City, would make an eight team tourney. But then what of McLeansboro and Carmi?

Herrin has a regional. It could be that some Saline county school is going to get a berth in that affair. And what's to become of Equality, who evidently will be assigned district play? Will they be required to make the long trek to Crossville? Besides the Norris City and Herrin regionals, Metropolis and Anna-Jonesboro will be regional centers in this area. Victors at these four sites will put in an appearance at Marion for a go at the sectional title.

Farther north, Salem will also serve as a southern Illinois sectional center. Regional winners from Campbell Hill, Centralia, Christopher and Fairfield will converge there. Christopher's regional play will include the district winner at Waltonville. This Waltonville meet could conceivably draw Thompsonville from this area. And, it is not beyond the possible, we suppose, for Galatia or McLeansboro to draw a spot in this Christopher regional.

Two cage tourneys involving area teams take place this week. The tourney at Karnak includes two Greater Egyptian conference schools—Vienna and Pope Co. The Tamaroa affair which commenced last night has Thompsonville's Tigers as participants.

South Seven action swung into high gear this week with Marion topping Herrin Tuesday night. Friday night someone has to give when unbeaten Centralia invades the Mt. Vernon Ram stronghold. The Orphans have won six straight. Mt. Vernon five without a loss. The winner will take over undisputed first place in the South Seven. Mt. Vernon will also face Herrin on Saturday night. This could prove a sad week end for the Rams.

JUST DRIBBLING—Bobby Joe Mason is setting the offensive pace in the South Seven. His teammate, Carl Franklin, is running a close second. Speaking of shooters, Christopher's Dick Kemeyer is at it again. He got 34 points against Carbondale University high, but Attucks held him to a mere 14. . . . And Carrier Mills' Big Rube Rollins had a 25 point average going into the Shawneetown game Wednesday night.

We pulled a boner Tuesday in presenting our "You Pick 'em" blank. Failed to put a place for the contestant's name and address. If you plan to enter, be sure you have your name and address on the blank somewhere or on a separate piece of paper. Remember, they must bear Thursday's postmark or you may bring them personally to the Register office.

Fordham Drops Football Play
NEW YORK (U.P.)—Fordham's official discontinuance of football due to "continuing financial loss" left Columbia university as New York City's lone survivor today on the major collegiate gridiron scene.

The end of Fordham's 63-year competition in varsity football came Wednesday night on the heels of a disastrous 1954 season during which the Rams won only the opener of their nine-game schedule and Ed Danowski resigned after nine years as head coach.

In dropping football, Fordham followed a pattern set by such New York City schools as New York University, Long Island University, Brooklyn College, Manhattan College and City College of New York.

Columbia also experienced one of the poorest seasons in its long collegiate grid career by winning only one game while losing eight.

Shawneetown Trips Carrier Mills, 71-66, with 32-Point Final Period

Win No. 13 for The Indians; Rollins Scores 35 Points

Carrier Mills' big Oliver (Rube) Rollins and company almost ended Shawneetown's victory string at 12 games last night, but the power-laden Indians bounced off the floor to deliver a knockout punch in the final eight minutes. The score was Shawneetown 71, Carrier Mills 66.

A packed house saw the invading Wildcats hold the upper hand most of the way, as Big Rube, flashing his usual brilliance, flipped in ten field goals and 15 of 18 foul tosses for 35 points.

It took a 32-point fourth quarter uprising to bring the Shawnees their 13th—and biggest—victory of the season. Carrier Mills entered the final quarter with a ten point lead—their longest of the game—and a seemingly comfortable margin.

Wildcats Shoot .490
The Wildcats outshot their opponents from the field, eging 25 of 51 attempts for a blistering 490. Shawneetown hit 28 of 66 for a 424. Big Rube dropped in his 10 fielders in 18 tries for a .556 shooting average, but he had to take second to Shawneetown's Jack Nolen in this department. Nolen collected 11 field goals in 19 attempts for a .579.

The Indian pivot man collected 25 points for the game. Rollins' best quarters were the first and fourth. In the initial period he scored 14 of Carrier Mills' 16 points, and in the fourth he collected 11 of their 17. Shawneetown's 32-point barrage was a team affair with every man contributing. Nolen's 12 led the way.

Both teams were content to play a slow, deliberate type of game during the outset. The Indians endeavored to devise a method of stopping Rollins, but finally gave up and merely outscored him. Shawneetown's overall height was a deciding factor in the outcome, as the Indians counted several times on batins and controlled much of the rebounding on both boards. At times during the first half Carrier Mills' press worried the Indians, resulting in ragged play and poor passing.

Rollins Opens Scoring
But Shawneetown's sturdy offense of the final eight minutes was almost unbelievable. After hitting a dismal 16 of 47 tries in three quarters, they suddenly came to life and connected on 12 of 19 from the field in the fourth.

Rollins opened the scoring, and on the strength of his shooting, the Wildcats ran up a 14-8 lead one time in the first period. Shawneetown trimmed this to 16-14 by the end of the period. After five minutes of play in the second canto, the Indians moved in front by four, but this was brief. Carrier Mills regained the lead just before the intermission buzzer. Score: C. M. 29, Shawneetown 28.

The two teams battled through the early minutes of the third on even terms, but the Wildcats' Harold Fitts grew hot. Aided by Rollins' foul-shooting and baskets by Dick Hill and Max Berns, Fitts led the invaders to a 49-39 advantage as the quarter slipped away.

Fitts drew a fourth personal late in the third and his retirement for a period materially weakened Carrier Mills' chances.

Indians' Surge Ahead
Shawneetown's fourth quarter spurge was almost phenomenal. Within two minutes of play in the final period, they had sliced Carrier Mills' lead to 51-50. At this point the Wildcats regained a 56-51 advantage, but it would not contain the on-swinging Indians who rolled ahead at 59-58 with four and a half minutes to play.

Garrison Newsom and Nolen then bagged fielders, and Shawneetown was on the way to victory No. 13. The Wildcats threatened down to the buzzer but were unable to steal the ball from the keep-away Indians.

The Carrier Mills seconds also lost a heartbreaker. Leading by 11 points midway in the fourth quarter, the Wildcats could not stem a young Brave attack and dropped a 65-61 decision.

Fast Marion Team Plays Here Friday Night

Centralia Meets Mt. Vernon, Also In League Contest

Some mighty fine South Seven conference basketball is on tap for tomorrow evening with those fast boys from Marion coming to Harrisburg for a conference tilt.

Marion climbed out of the cellar Tuesday night by knocking off Herrin, which had been undefeated in loop play. And last week-end it took the defending state champions, Mt. Vernon, an overtime period to beat the Wildcats.

For people who like their basketball fast with lots of pressing, they undoubtedly will be able to see it Friday night when Marion comes to town.

The locals travel out of the conference Saturday night to meet Johnston City on the Indians' floor.

Big Friday night league game, however, will be at Mt. Vernon, where Centralia will be the foe. These two teams are the only unbeaten outfits in conference play and the walls probably will be bulging out with fans. The Orphans of Centralia are being given the nod by most fans to cop the conference this year.

Other Games
The other Friday evening loop affair also will be a good contest, in which Benton and West Frankfort will be battling on the Frankfort floor.

Other Friday night games include Johnston City at Pinckneyville, Lawrenceville at Salem, Royaltan at Dahlgren, Cave-in-Rock at Galatia, Murphysboro at Sparta, Elkhart at Shawnee, Metropolis at McLeansboro, Joppa at Tammis, Chester at Hurst-Bush and Cairo at Cape Girardeau.

There will be but one South Seven on game Saturday night but it should be another fine contest. It will come when Mt. Vernon invades Herrin for a game.

The South Seven conference standings:

Team	W	L
Centralia	2	0
Mt. Vernon	1	0
Herrin	2	1
Benton	1	1
Marion	1	2
West Frankfort	0	1
Harrisburg	0	2

Benson Favors Indirect Sale of Butter to Reds

NEW YORK (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said Wednesday night he favored trading "butter or anything else" with Communist countries so long as the trade is favorable to the United States.

Benson's statement indicated a possible change in administration policy. Earlier this year Russia offered to buy surplus butter from the United States at 50 cents a pound and the administration refused.

Great Britain eventually bought six million dollars worth of the surplus at 41 cents a pound.

Benson told a press conference some of the butter eventually reached points behind the Iron Curtain. He said he was aware that some of the butter was resold or likely to be resold to Russia.

The secretary of agriculture said direct sale of butter to Iron Curtain countries was not being considered. Reports circulated that the matter may be discussed Friday at a meeting of President Eisenhower's Cabinet.

A high administration official in Washington said the possibility of selling surplus farm goods to Russia is being considered on grounds it would be better for the Soviets to "spend money for butter than bullets."

Benson spoke Wednesday afternoon at the 36th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau. He outlined his views on trade at a press conference following the address.

Three Traffic Fatalities in Illinois S-D Day

By United Press

Safe Driving Day worked out fairly well in Chicago, but the record for all of Illinois was not too good.

There were two fatalities downstate and one in Cook County, but a United Press survey showed no fatalities in Chicago.

The first recorded fatality in Illinois occurred at 6:34 a. m. Wednesday in Carlyle when an auto driven by Police Magistrate A. H. Blaisdell, 36, collided with a passenger train. Edward Spitz, 59, who was riding in the car, was killed in the crash.

The second fatality occurred at Peru, where 70-year-old Miss Tess Johnson was struck by a car.

The third fatality occurred in suburban Cook County Wednesday night. Mrs. Veronica Pratt, 40, Summit, was killed shortly after she and her son, Francis, 12, were struck by a car. The boy was hospitalized in serious condition.

At least 41 persons were injured in Illinois during S-D Day.

Central Illinois Village of Ashland Considers Name Change to North Pole

ASHLAND, Ill., Dec. 15.—The central Illinois village of Ashland soon may cease to exist, all because of Christmas.

Town fathers are pondering what may be a momentous step in Ashland's 85-year history. They're thinking of changing its name.

Not to anything ordinary, like Centerville or New York.

The idea is to boost the village economy with a name symbolic of the Christmas season. There's Santa Claus, Ind., Christmas, Fla., and Noel, Mo.

Why not North Pole, Ill.?

A special town meeting has been called for tonight at the high school to discuss the proposal. There may be heated debate.

The way Village Clerk Howard Douglas explained the idea, changing Ashland's name to North Pole would open up rather extraordinary possibilities for the town of 1,000, 20 miles west of Springfield.

What's in a Name?

"Ashland has no major industry, and doesn't have a lot to offer an industry which might consider locating here," he said.

"But it does have rail connections and the necessary land for industry, and we do need new industry," he said.

With a name like North Pole, it shouldn't be too difficult to attract a toy manufacturer or other industry which is connected with the Christmas season, Douglas explained.

Douglas said five of the six members of the village board of trustees favored the change, among them Board President Robert Newell.

But Newell refused comment until after the meeting.

"The proposal to change the name is only a small part of the whole thing," he said.

Before the name could be changed, Douglas said, more than half of the citizens would have to sign a petition. He said he didn't think that would be difficult to obtain.

Oldtimer Opposes Idea

But so profound a change for the village, which was incorporated back in 1868, probably wouldn't be accomplished without some fuss.

S. D. Danenberger, former president of the board of trustees and an Ashland resident 65 of his 68 years, took a dim view of the whole thing.

"There's no possibility that Ashland's name is going to be changed," he said flatly. "It's the most fantastic darn thing I ever heard of."

Danenberger recalled that Ashland was named in honor of Henry Clay, whose old home in Kentucky was Ash Lawn.

HTHS National Honors Groups Plan Projects

The twelve senior and sophomore students at the Harrisburg Township high school who were recently elected into the National Honor societies, one old member, Bill Bottomley, and the sponsor, H. B. Bauman, attended an initiation dinner Tuesday evening, Dec. 14, in the Homemaking department at the high school.

Following the dinner which was in potluck form, Mr. Bauman spoke to the students of the honor of being elected into the National Honor societies, of the history of the national and the HTHS chapter, and of projects that the two societies may work on during the year. The projects which the students will have are the making of an Alumni Directory of all past members of the National Honor society, the rewriting of a part of the senior constitution, and the writing of the junior constitution.

The initiation ceremony was then presented with Mr. Bauman placing purple ribbons with National Honor society pins on them around the necks of the senior initiates and then presenting them membership cards. Bill Bottomley, president of the junior society and the only old member, then likewise initiated the new members of the junior society.

Following the initiation ceremony, Charles Polk, president of the Senior National Honor society, appointed the chairman of committees to begin work on the projects. Marjory Womack was appointed chairman of the committee for the Alumni Directory with Catherine Anderson and Barbara Dunn the other members. Judy Morse was appointed chairman of the committee with Mona Wickham and Doris Steinmarch for rewriting a part of the senior constitution.

As entertainment for the occasion, Judy Belt and Judy Morse completed the program by giving the readings which they gave Saturday, Dec. 11, at the Du Quoin Speech meet.

In Toys, Games, Purchase for Child, Not Yourself

In buying toys and games for children — not infants — the Toy Guidance Council suggests that you shop for the child and not for what will amuse you. It goes this way:

From 2 to 4, youngsters go for — kindergarten blocks, simple puzzles, trucks on wheels, crayon sets, dolls, airplanes, cowboy sets, doctor-nurse sets, simple housekeeping toys, tricycles, doll carriages, outdoor gym toys and inflatable toys. Things that carry over from nursery school or kindergarten will satisfy children who enjoy their lives there; a doll with diapers, a tea set, a big wooden box, a little chair, all stimulate learning activity.

When they're 4 to 6, they like simple games, doll houses and furniture, kitchen equipment, telephones, crayon and paint sets, fingerpaints, roller skates, scooters, dressed dolls and wheel toys of all sorts.

At 6 to 8, children enjoy simple sporting equipment, electric trains, construction sets, hobby crafts, sewing kits, dolls with varied wardrobes, parlor games, carpentry, model building.

Children 8 to 10 will be delighted with advanced craft sets, simple chemistry and electronic outfits, painting equipment, electric trains, hobbies, educational games and puzzles, magic sets, books and bicycles.

The United States has 128,225 elementary schools, 23,746 high schools, and 1,889 accredited colleges — and 1,242,249 teachers to staff them.

Christmas Doesn't Co-Exist with Communism, Global Reporter Says

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent

TOKYO — (NEA) — At this fine season of good will, it is not fitting for the Free World to pause in thought — and prayer — for millions whose Christmas is blacked out by the anti-Christ?

This occurs to a global correspondent on the edge of the Iron Curtain who with one ear hears "Merry Christmas!" — and with the other hears the thump-thump-thump of Soviet jackboots hailing yet another year of victories.

Washington, nerve center of the confused West, empties on Christmas, jamming outgoing transport for hometowns. But there is a huge, twinkling tree on the White House lawn and carols serenade the President with

Noel, Noel

There is hardly time for carols along the sweating water buffalo trails of Vietnam. Fleeing south in modern exodus from persecution is an endless line of Roman Catholics.

Several hundred thousand, they refused to compromise their faith when democracy's diplomats sliced Indo-China like a Yuletide turkey, flinging their northern homes to communism.

Perhaps, on a pad of elephant grass, watched by chattering monkeys, a child will be born on Christmas Eve to a refugee mother. Without benefit of medication, she will clutch her rosary and in the misty valley of such pain vision another born in equal squalor.

Champs Elysee ballrooms dance in the refined light of crystal chandeliers, heady with the best perfume, the richest furs. The great bells of austere Notre Dame call to prayer across France, ringing:

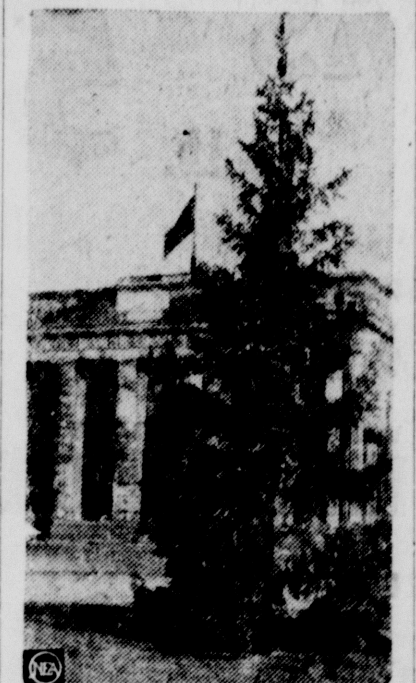

Il est ne le divin enfant
Chantez hautbois resonnez musettes!

But church bells are silent in nearby Prague and Budapest. They cannot be rung without permission — permission of a Communist government. Ten per cent of all Czech clergymen are jailed, 15 per cent do forced labor, five per cent exiled.

On past performance, labor and sports groups will have "special" projects Christmas Day to break any lingering church-going habits. Police will "note" closed stores and absent Government employees.

Budapest's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty will quietly finger his Bible in a damp cell, his fifth Christmas behind bars. His sin? Putting Mass before Marx.

sparkle with the gadgets of a talented nation reborn in the ruins. Automatic Santas sing, jig, walk, spill goodies.

On Christmas Eve plump, blonde small fry press noses against frosting window panes to hear wandering minstrels sing:

Stille nacht, heilige nacht
Alles schlaf, einsam wacht.
A few blocks east children are told: "Es gibt keinen Gott!" — (There is no God.)

Recently, in a town near Leipzig, militant members of the FDJ (Communist Free German Youth) photographed teen-agers entering church, posted the snaps on a school bulletin board alongside sketches of witch doctors and fire dancers. Another part of the campaign to split youngsters from religion by ridicule.

Santa is pictured as an evil servant of Yankee imperialism — and as the Red Star shadows the Star of Bethlehem.

In England, for the first time since Hitler's end, fat birds and thick roasts are available. In London's somber chamber halls men who once were crusaders now talk gravely of compromise, of "co-existence," while outside — in the jolly spirit of Dickens — red checked groups sing:

"God rest ye Merry Gentlemen"

But there is no "co-existence" for Christians inside Red China. Recently released from house arrest in Hunan province, Father Ernest Holtz, of New York, said: "Children threw stones at us and we were hit with bricks."

Others recall last year in a hamlet where the commissar "nationalized" the church for Christmas Day. Rev. Tsu led his congregation to a freezing cow pasture where, in a Biblical scene, before a crude wooden cross, he told again the simple story of the Christ-child.

As all waved arms and stomped feet against the cold, he prayed for a better next Christmas. Within two months Rev. Tsu was dead — strangely dead in a Communist "detention" camp.

"Christmas does not 'co-exist' with communism."

VIETNAMESE Christmas is a pause before a Christ shrine in flight south from Communism.

Practical Joker Winds Up In the Calaboose

SIoux FALLS, S. D. — A young practical joker fooled his pals here by pretending that he had drowned in the Big Sioux River.

The boy slipped away from a swimming party and let the others search for his "body" for a time before showing up to laugh at the joke he'd played.

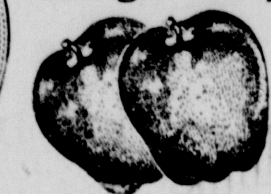

However, the companions had the last laugh. Police, who had been summoned to hunt for the missing swimmer, booked him on a charge of disorderly conduct.

LAST TUESDAY AT PILLSBURY'S 6th GRAND NATIONAL RECIPE AND BAKING CONTEST

OPEN SESAME PIE

Submitted by Mrs. Bernard A. Koteen, Washington, D. C.
Adapted by Ann Pillsbury

Bake at 450 degrees Fahrenheit for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 9-inch Pie. Toast . . 2 to 4 tablespoons Sesame Seeds in 9-inch pie pan at 325 degrees Fahrenheit for 8 to 10 minutes until light golden brown. Remove seeds, then turn oven to 450 degrees Fahrenheit. Sift together . . 1 cup sifted Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour and 1-2 teaspoon salt into mixing bowl. Add the toasted Sesame Seeds. Cut in . . 1-3 cup shortening until particles are the size of small peas. Sprinkle . . 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water over mixture, a little at a time, while tossing and stirring lightly with fork. Add water to driest particles, pushing lumps to side, until dough is just moist enough to hold together. Form . . into a ball. Flatten to about 1-2 inch thickness. Smooth dough at edges. Roll out . . on floured pastry cloth or board to a circle 11-2 inches larger than inverted 9-inch pie pan. Fit . . loosely into pie pan. Gently pat out air pockets. Fold edge to form a standing rim. Flute. Prick generously with fork. Bake . . in hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) 10 to 12 minutes until golden brown. Cool.

DATE CHIFFON FILLING

Soften . . 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) Gelatin in 1-4 cup cold water. Beat together . . 1-4 cups milk, 2 egg yolks, 1-4 cup sugar and 1-8 teaspoon salt in top of double boiler until well blended. Cook . . over hot water (or directly over low heat, stirring constantly) until mixture will coat a metal spoon. Add . . the softened Gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Chill until almost set, stirring occasionally. Fold in . . 3-4 cup whipping cream, beaten until very thick, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 cup pitted dates, chopped very fine. Beat . . 2 egg whites until slight mounds form when beater is raised. Add 2 tablespoons sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Continue beating to make a meringue which stands in stiff, glossy peaks when beater is raised. Fold into the date mixture. Spoon . . into cooled, baked pie shell, heaping into fluffy mounds. Chill until firm. If desired, sprinkle lightly with Nutmeg before serving.

SIU Foundation Receives Gift

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The Southern Illinois University Foundation has been given a $10,000 gift from the estate of the late Mrs. Leah M. Reef of Carbondale.

Edward V. Miles, SIU manager and treasurer of the Foundation, said the money had been turned over by Elmer Tuegel, executor of Mrs. Reef's estate, for a Leah M. Reef Memorial Scholarship.

Mrs. Reef, who died last December, was president of the Carbondale Public Library board of trustees from 1922 until 1952. She gave more than $50,000 in cash and property to the library.

Miles said the executive committee of the Foundation and the University's Scholarships and Loans Committee had agreed on a plan whereby the $10,000 would be placed in an endowment fund, with the income to be used for the awarding of one scholarship a year.

Madness In The Springs

By Elmore Dennison

XXVIII

They slept late next morning and were awakened by the door of the trailer opening and Rupert charged with excitement, calling, "I just saw an Indian!"

"Pity he didn't scalp you," Greg replied sleepily.

"But I did see an Indian," Rupert told Kirby who was burrowing into the pillow, trying to get back to sleep. "A whole family of them. The woman was squatting cross-legged on the sidewalk with her hair dangling over her shoulders in braids and a blanket over her."

Kirby rolled over and looked up at him, his impudent nose wrinkled with amusement. "What did you expect? You're in the West now. And a god-forsaken looking piece of real estate it is," he added, as he opened the Venetian blinds and looked out. "I'd give three months' salary to see the subway kiosk at Times Square and hear the traffic and see the lights; to sleep until a civilized hour in the morning."

It was a bleak little town of frame houses, without lawns, with almost no attempt at adornment, set down haphazardly in space under a deep blue sky, with parched plains stretching to the horizon. For Rupert's enchanted eyes there moved across the barren plains a procession of buffalo, covered wagons, cowboys, Indians, the United States Cavalry galloping to the rescue.

Hannah had taken advantage of the unexpected warmth of the day to wear a lime-colored-cotton dress that did a spectacular job for her figure. The bruise was fading but she still wore her hair low over her cheek. And this morning it was combed in soft waves.

Greg noticed that Kirby approved of what he saw. Something about that lime-colored dress made Hannah seem more—Greg discarded the word ethereal. Not with her figure. Somehow, you couldn't help being aware of Hannah in a pleasantly disturbing sort of way. Kirby opened the door for her with a flourish. "Come in, Beautiful," he said.

Hannah responded by a naively pleased smile, although, Greg thought, any woman ought to discount that blatant kind of flattery.

"Well, children," Daggett began, looking around like a schoolmaster. "It's about time we started making plans."

There was a keyed-up excitement about him that worried Greg. "You take it easy," he ordered, and Daggett looked at him, the difficult smile pulling at his mouth.

"Well, it's like this," Daggett was so moved that he struggled to keep his voice as expressionless as possible. He had been born, he said, in the little town of Dead Man's Gulch, named for the leading topographical point of interest in the heart of the Badlands. The town had been built by his father who had settled in North Dakota where he had attempted to build up a meat-packing center that would rival Chicago.

Chicago, he went on, was never seriously threatened and the abortive industry had declined and fallen like ancient Rome, only much faster. The place had become a ghost town.

"I've never been back," Daggett said. "A few years ago I got talking with an enthusiast on Americana and restoring the past. I hired him to see what he could do about fixing it up. Nothing elaborate but—reminiscent, anyhow. So let's go take a look."

Within an hour or two the scenery began to change. There were no more farms, no fertile land, only a landscape like that of the moon, bleak and savage, carved into strange canyons and bluffs, a trackless waste with treacherous washouts and the holes and hills dug by prairie dogs that sat up to bark impudently as they passed, and a curving line of gray menace that was a snake. A red clay road, like a gash, like a wound, cut through the waste land, the dead land, the Badlands of North Dakota.

"I did not know," Rupert said softly, "that there was so much space in all the world. So incredibly much space without men on it. As though no one had lived here—ever."

"How can they?" Greg pointed out. "Nothing grows here—unless someone can find a commercial use for sagebrush. It's not even grazing country for a rancher who doesn't own all out of doors."

"It's too lonely for a woman," Hannah declared.

Under Hannah's guidance they had stocked up with supplies at the last town. To reach Dead Man's Gulch they followed a dirt road that wound out of sight around the grotesque moonscape.

An enraptured Rupert was pointing out things to Hannah: two buzzards hovering almost motionless in the sky; the fantastic colors of a miniature Grand Canyon; the jagged, broken landscape. Whenever he stopped for breath she would say indulgently, "How nice! Did I remember to get any sugar?"

Greg shared Rupert's enchantment with the incredible blue of the sky and the untamed land.

Kirby watched her with an amused tenderness that Greg found vaguely irritating. What bothered him most, however, was Daggett who sat beside him, a determined smile on his face. The old man was whistling in the dark. Because he had no future he was going to try to recapture the past. And he was afraid, afraid to find the glamour gone; afraid that the boy he had been would be ruthless to the man he had become. Afraid of a mouthful of ashes.

Social Security Tax Base is Raised to $4,200

"Beginning January 1, 1955, earnings up to $4200 a year will be credited to an individual's social security account," E. Bishop Hill, manager of the Harrisburg social security office, declared today.

This means that both employees and employers will be taxed 2 per cent each on wages up to a maximum of $4200 annually. A self-employed individual will pay 3 per cent of $4200 for his taxable year.

Although an individual will be paying a little more social security tax, it will mean increased benefits to him and his dependents or to his survivors upon retirement or death.

Benefits based on average monthly earnings up to $350 are first payable in 1956 provided the retired or deceased worker has earnings at an annual rate of at least $4200 in 1955 and 1956.

For example, an individual and his 65-year-old wife who retires on July 1, 1956, will be eligible for $162.80 monthly, as compared to the present benefit rate of $147.80 monthly. This worker must have had an average monthly wage of $350 in 1955 and for the first six months of 1956.

The widow and two children of a person who dies on July 1, 1956, and who had the same average monthly wage of $350 will receive $200 a month until the youngest child reaches 18. The total amount payable to this family unit will be $200.

"It will be seen from the above examples that raising of the maximum creditable to one's social security account to $4200 a year will mean increased benefits for the worker and his family," Mr. Hill said.

Professionals in Social Security First Time in 1955

About 100,000 engineers, accountants, architects, and funeral directors who have their own businesses, as sole owners or in a partnership, will be brought under the social security program for the first time after 1954, according to E. Bishop Hill, manager of the Harrisburg District office of the Social Security Administration. These individuals will come under the law on a compulsory basis and they will begin to earn old-age and survivors insurance for themselves and their dependents in the same way as self-employed persons in commerce and industry have since 1950. Not included under the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act are lawyers, dentists, physicians, and men and women who are self-employed in other professional medical capacities, such as optometrists, veterinarians, chiropractors, and osteopaths. All self-employed professional men and women whose work is covered by the program for the first time beginning January 1, 1955, and who have net earnings of $400 or more in a taxable year will make their first report and pay their first social security tax of three per cent on their net earnings for their first taxable year after 1954. The first report and the tax contribution, according to Mr. Hill, will be sent with the Federal income tax return which is due April 15, 1956. All net earnings up to $4,200 in any year beginning with 1955, must be reported for social security and will be credited to the individual's social security account, on which future old-age and survivors insurance payments to him and to his dependents will be based.

Rep. Paul Powell Considers Bill to Boost Sales Tax One Cent for Welfare, Schools

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special to The Daily Register) — State Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna, House Democrat minority leader in the last General Assembly, is mulling the idea of introducing a bill in the 69th General Assembly to increase the state retail sales tax to raise an additional $100 million a year to finance increased needs of public schools and for state welfare purposes "if I am convinced the needs are justified."

Powell said he would provide for an additional one half cent tax for the schools and another additional one half cent for new buildings for state welfare institutions to provide housing for patients and employees, power plants, et cetera. The additional cent, he said, would be limited to two years after which the levy would expire. Powell denied that he has committed himself to an increase of the sales tax by an additional cent but admitted he did make a statement to a state budgetary commission that the only way to settle the financial ills of the schools and state welfare department "for once and for all" is to enact an additional one cent sales tax for a two-year period.

Collections from the additional cent tax, Powell said, could be earmarked to go into specific funds and could be used for no other purpose. The present two per cent sales tax is bringing in more than $200 million a year. He said if he could be convinced of school and welfare needs he would seriously consider sponsoring legislation to increase the present tax. He said he believes Gov. William G. Stratton will have to support an increased tax.

Powell also believes that if newspapers, and welfare and school people get behind an additional one cent sales tax, it can be sold to the people without injury to members of the General Assembly who might oppose it for fear it would hurt them politically. He said school and welfare people should help to "sell" the tax "if it is needed" in towns and cities throughout the state.

In regard to legislative action on senatorial reapportionment, Powell said he believed the Governor should clear his program with the General Assembly and get that out of the way before tackling reapportionment. He said with the administration program out of the way, the Assembly would be free to act on an equitable basis and not let it (the Assembly) be a trading post.

Powell also said he was not a candidate to the point of seeking the House minority leadership in the next Assembly but added he is available for any assistance House Democrats desire. Powell was Democratic minority whip in the 1945 House, was minority leader in 1947, speaker in 1951, and was elected minority leader of the House in the last Legislature.

The Illinois Toll Highway Commission has raised the hopes of advocates of the Old National Turnpike (East St. Louis to Terre Haute, Ind.) that the route will be revived. A joint statement by Gov. William G. Stratton and George N. Craig of Indiana, said that a turnpike from East St. Louis

New Business to Begin in Eldorado

A new business in Eldorado, which is to employ a minimum of ten persons when in production, is promised for the early part of next year according to a recent announcement.

The concern will specialize in the manufacturing of ornamental iron works and work has been started on a building to house the business.

The building, which will be 40 by 50 feet, will be constructed of concrete blocks and located on Rt. 45.

Bob Murray will operate the business and it is said he expects to employ not less than ten men when in production.

to Cincinnati, Ohio, is 'a matter of months.' The statement was made in spite of an earlier announcement by Stratton that the Old National Trail Turnpike in Illinois had been abandoned because it lacked financial feasibility, could not produce revenue necessary to float a bond issue. Stratton however, now feels that if Indiana can supply a turnpike from Terre Haute to Cincinnati, such a route would be financially feasible.

Engineers say a turnpike from East St. Louis to Cincinnati would require 300 miles of construction, 150 in Illinois and 150 in Indiana. Cost is placed at $200 million, at the rate of a million dollars a mile. The situation was left at the point where it is up to Indiana to supply the routing of the continuation of the Old National Trail through Indiana.

Divided House is Source of Trouble

DETROIT 17.—Trouble came the way of Henry Iwankovitch when he moved to his present home. It was trouble in the form of a "division" arising because of the particular location of his house.

For his residence is right on the line that divides the Detroit suburbs of Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods.

Iwankovitch actually sleeps in the limits of Grosse Pointe Woods which technically makes him a resident of that community. But the rest of the house, about 90 per cent of it, is in Harper Woods.

His most serious difficulty started when he tried to register to vote in Grosse Pointe Woods. The city council said he had to pay a special assessment of $36 to cover fire and police protection, sewer, park privileges and water service.

Ordinarily he pays $6 in taxes a year to Grosse Pointe Woods and $60 to Harper Woods.

Iwankovitch finally paid the special assessment and then found the city wanted him to pay the same amount for each year the previous owner had failed to pay the same.

He is fighting the matter and says he'll move if he can't get relief.
